If your exam is proctored...

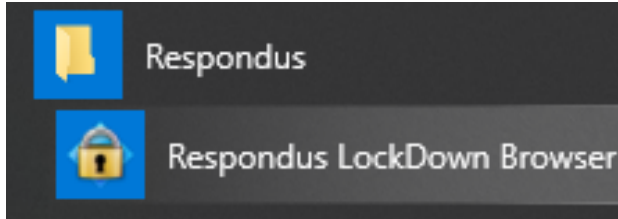

The screenshot shows the Respondus interface for a course named 'CURSO DEMO RESPONDUS (IMBA_DEMO_RESPONDUS)'. The 'EXAMS' section is active, displaying a list of exams. The first exam is 'Final exam demo', which has a red box highlighting the text 'Requires Respondus LockDown Browser'. The interface includes a sidebar with navigation options like 'ANNOUNCEMENTS', 'EXAMS', 'DISCUSSIONS', and 'EMAIL'. At the top right, there is a toggle for 'Edit Mode' which is currently 'ON'.

Launch Respondus LB from your laptop

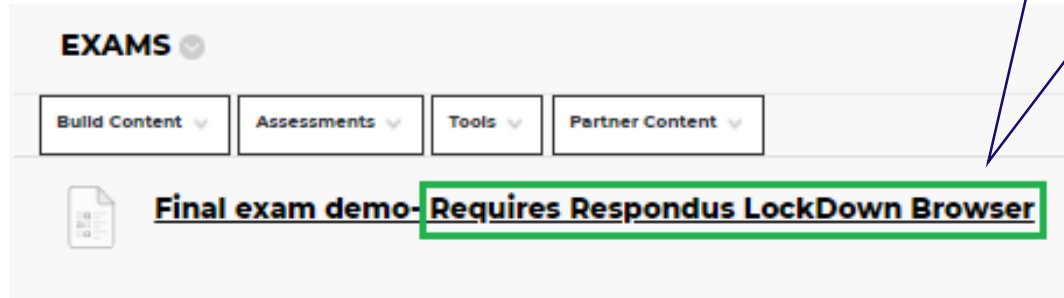

- ❑ You will need to grant Lockdown Browser to make changes on your laptop/device, and probably you will be requested to close not allowed programs that are currently running on your laptop. Maybe you will need to close them manually.
- ❑ You will be requested to enter your IE credentials for login into Campus (as usual).

- ❑ You will need to navigate through agenda or my courses tab until the course/exam you want to take part.

Click for starting the exam

- Once the exam starts, you cannot close it and you must finish in just 1 attempt.
  - In case you experience any issue (Ej. Connectivity) during the exam, you may need to close and exit Lockdown Browser, registering the reason.
  - You will be able to come back to course and continue the attempt where you left it, once the issue is solved.

- When you finish your exam, you must submit the results. You will get a summary from the session.
